Updates!

Mark and Eric returned from New York, Maryland & Washington, D.C. with 10 hours of video. Check back over the coming weeks for interviews with Rita Rubinstein, Jack Moskowitz, Carolyn Shapiro, Sarita Zimmerman, Harvey Spiro, Flo Stofsky, and Hilda Rubin.

Also, keep an eye out for: “Anatomy of a Yiddish Reading Group”, based on Max Ticktin’s group. Coming Soon!

So, where is everything?

We’ve created 13 videos as a tribute to renowned poet Herman Taube. These cover his life starting in Lodz, follow him through the military as a medic, and end up in the U.S.. While most of the material is in Yiddish, a portion is available in English as well. We know you’ll find him fascinating.

We also offer 4 new great pieces with Professor Michael Rosenbush, a warm man of generous spirit. He’s currently working with a small team transforming Niborski/Vaisbrot’s “Dictionnaire Yiddish-Français” into Yiddish-English. His stories of Poland & Siberia, experienced as a child, are of a type we hadn’t heard before.

And that brings us to our beloved Freyliche Knaidlach, a vocal group who performs Yiddish songs for both young and old alike. Not only did they welcome us warmly, we were fed rugelach freshly baked by Rita Rubinstein, herself. Yes, fringe benefits are nice! Check out the group in a place where you can clap along.

Yiddish Lives on The Radio!

Eric Edelstein and Yiddish Lives will be featured on radio station KSVY Thursday, December 10th from 9am to 10am, PST (12-1pm EST). We’ll promote the message: “Record Your Family during the Holidays”.

The program can be heard on the Internet. There’s even a call in number!
